

Blood Orange Mojito Mocktail Drink

A delicious non-alcoholic drink

Author: Elisa | Inthekitchenwithelisa

INGREDIENTS

(for 2 portions)

- about 4-6 branches fresh mint
- 2tsp sugar + extra for the edge of the glass
- ice
- bitter lemon lemonade
- 2 blood oranges + two slices for decoration (optional)

DIRECTIONS

1. Start by making the sugar edge for the glasses. Brush the edge of the glass with water, sprinkle some sugar into a plate and roll the edge of the glass in sugar.
2. Add about one handful of fresh mint to each glass. Top with a teaspoon of sugar and crush the sugar with the mint a little using a pestle or a spoon.
3. Half the blood oranges and squeeze the juice out of them.
4. Fill the glass with ice.
5. Fill about half of the glass full with the bitter lemon lemonade.
6. Fill the rest of the glass with the freshly squeezed blood orange juice. Add more bitter lemon lemonade to fill the glass up until the top if needed.
7. Mix with a spoon and serve right away.